SECTION 1 PRESENTS

Time for Some Web 2.0

Are you completely comfortable with Web 2.0 tools? Do you wish you had some guidance and time to practice in order to help your colleagues and students to use Web 2.0 tools as efficiently as possible. Join your section reps Sarah Burns and Cathy Henry for a chance to get some hands on time with Google Docs and other 2.0 elements. You will have expert guidance and time to experiment with what you learn, as well as the chance to network with other teacher librarians.

When: Saturday, October 15, 2011

Where: Thousand Oaks High School, in the Lancer Library

2323 N. Moorpark Rd. Thousand Oaks, CA 91360

Cost: Free to CSLA members; $5 for non-members

RSVP by October 10, 2011 to Sarah (sarahburns@conejo.k12.ca.us) or Cathy (chenry@khsd.k12.ca.us)

Parking: The PSATs will be held at TOHS the morning of October 15. There will be a parking lot reserved for CSLA Workshop attendees behind the school near the baseball field. If coming from Hwy 101 on Moorpark Rd., turn left at the light just past the high school. Instead of taking the next left into the main parking lot, head down the narrow road running between the school and the park. Take a left and park in the last lot in front of the baseball field. To find the library, walk back up the narrow road past the bus barn and cut through campus to the quad. The library is on the south side of the quad.
